WILD OATS AT OXFORD.

NOT DRINK BUT DOUBT THE TROUBLE.

ANXIETY ABOUT THE FUTURE, AND RELIGIOUS SCEPTICISM.

A writer in the "Isis," the leading undergraduate magazine at Oxford, has startled the world with the alleged drunkenness of his contemporaries, writes Mr. C.
E. M. Joad, B.A., Oxon, a tutor of London University and the author of many works of a philosophical nature. There is, he says, a habit and tradition of drink at the University which produces "a more constant high level of intoxication in Oxford than anywhere else in the world."
Undergraduates drink, he suggests, not because they are sad or because they are happy, but because they wish to be in the fashion.

All this, I must confess, seems to me rather nonsense. Some undergraduates, it is obvious, drink habitually and drink too much; they always have done and they always will do. Those who drink too much, it is equally obvious, tend to make a noise, and the noisy attract attention.

Not Even a Cocktail.

There are certain moods in which the young also like to think that they are wild and wicked. The "Isis" article is obviously an expression of one of those moods, which I endeavour to diagnose below. The belief is, however, dis-polled by the briefest acquaintance with undergraduates.

I had occasion to visit Oxford as recently as last week. I dined with six undergraduates, the officers of a political club for which I was speaking. I called at the secretary's rooms before dinner, and he apologised for not being able to offer me a cocktail or a glass of sherry. At dinner, which was simple, three of us drank beer, the rest water. After the meeting about twelve persons went to a cafe to talk and drink coffee.

You may object that these were intellectuals; talkers, politicians and attenders of meetings, and not typical, therefore, of the average happy-go-lucky, carefree undergraduate who, presumably, was getting drunk while I was talking. You may be right, but I doubt it.

A Changed Atmosphere.

I spent the night with a Rugged blue who is also an International.
His name is well known not only at Oxford but throughout England, and it is reasonable to suppose that he sets a standard of conduct for a considerable section of contemporary undergraduates. When we reached his rooms he offered me a drink, but the only drink in the house turned out to be cider. I admit that he was chagrined at this, but only on my behalf; he himself, he said, drank very little.
These experiences could be paralleled from visits to Oxford made any time during these last six years. How things may be at Cambridge I do not know.

What does strike me about contemporary undergraduates is not drink, but doubt. As with all their generation, their prevailing characteristics seem to me to be uncertainty and apprehension; they are uncertain of their beliefs and apprehensive of their futures.

The generation of undergraduates to which I belonged was pre-eminently a generation of faith. We were vigorous, energetic and supremely self-confident. Shaw and Wells were our gods, and, enlightened under their banners, we set ourselves to liquidate the legacy of Victorian England. Ours was a real revolt of youth, a revolt against the pruderies and stuffinessness, the conventions and false respectabilities that we had inherited from the nineteenth century.

Incidentally, most of us were keen politicians, we believed that Society was sick, that certain specific measures could be taken to cure it, and that it was up to us to take them. Obviously, we were credulous and simple minded, but our faith and our enthusiasm kept us from bothering about ourselves or our souls, or taking overmuch thought for the morrow.

To-day the prevailing mood is different. Undergraduates have not escaped the disillusion and discouragement that have marked the aftermath of the war, and in the post-war years at Oxford and Cambridge there has been a perceptible lowering of the spiritual atmosphere. In this respect, as in others, the undergraduate is typical of his generation. He is touched, for example, by the prevailing uncertainty about religion.
Christianity, he cannot help observing, failed in the time of crisis, when Mars was unanimously preferred to Christ; is there, then, any reason to take it seriously in daily life?

FAR EAST IN PARLIAMENT.

NEGOTIATIONS IN CHINA

June 13.—In reply to Mr. Wardlaw Milne (Kiddier-minster, U.), Mr. Henderson said that he was still awaiting a full report from Sir Miles Lampson upon the conversations and negotiations carried out with Mr. Wang, but he could not, at this stage, give an undertaking to publish it when it was received. Moreover, until political conditions in China made it possible for a final agreement to be concluded, it was not desirable that the results so far reached in the negotiations should be made public.

Seizure of Canton Customs.

Sir K. Wood asked the Secretary for Foreign Affairs whether he was aware that the Canton Government had seized the Customs, and had ordered the Commissioners to hand over to Canton daily a sum representing the surplus over the amount required for the service of the foreign loans; and whether he was taking any steps in the matter.

Mr. Henderson: My information is that on June 10 the Canton authorities instructed the Customs Bank at Canton to hand over daily to them all Customs revenue other than the proceeds of the old 5 per cent. tariff and the tonnage dues, which would continue to be dealt with by the Commissioner of Customs as formerly. The Commissioner of Customs acquiesced in this situation, subject to a formal protest. The matter is not one in which his Majesty's Government feels called upon to intervene.

International Silver Conference.

June 16.—Mr. L. Smith (Hullam, U.) asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether he could now state what answer the Government proposed to give to the invitation to Great Britain to take part in an international silver conference; and whether the proposed conference would take place in London.

Mr. Snowden: No invitation to such a conference has been received, and the second part of the question accordingly does not arise.

THE PROCEEDINGS AGAINST LORD KYLSANT.

HOW THE PROSPECTUS FOR £2,000,000 R.M.S.P. ISSUE WAS PREPARED.

ALLEGED INSTRUCTIONS TO CHANGE "BALANCE" TO "PROFIT."

LONDON, July 13.

Further evidence for the Crown was given at Guildhall yesterday, when the hearing was continued before the Lord Mayor of the summonses against Lord Kylesant and Mr. Harold John Morland, arising out of the affairs of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Co.

The summonses against Lord Kylesant, alleged that as chairman and managing director of the R.M.S.P., in May, 1927, and May, 1928, he made, circulated or published, or concurred in so doing, annual reports of the directors of the company for the years 1928 and 1927, which he knew to be false in a material particular, with intent to deceive the shareholders of the company. Mr. Morland, the auditor of the company, is alleged to have aided and abetted him.

It is also alleged against Lord Kylesant that on June 29, 1928, he made, circulated or published or concurred in so doing, a prospectus which he knew to be false in a material particular, with intent to induce persons to entrust or advance property to the company.

Counsel for the prosecution are D. N. Pritt, K.C., and Mr. Eustace Fulton.

Lord Kylesant is represented by Mr. Wilfred Lewis and Mr. Morland by Mr. F. J. Tucker, Mr. Henry O'Hagan and Mr. Elder Jones hold watching briefs for the R.M.S.P. Company.

Mr. Charles Samuel Lewis, now chief accountant of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, said that on June 8, 1928, he was assistant accountant, and Lord Kylesant sent for him, Mr. Cason, the accountant, being away on holiday.

Mr. Fulton: What did he say to you?—He informed me that he proposed to make an issue, probably of Debenture stock, of the company.

Then he handed you a document?—He dictated a paragraph to a clerk in the room, who typed it and brought it into the room. It was then handed to me.

Why Funds Were Required.

Mr. Lewis produced the paragraph, which Mr. Fulton read as follows:

"The audited accounts of the companies show that during the past ten years the average profits, including profits of the insurance fund, after providing for depreciation and interest on debenture stock, have been sufficient to pay interest on the present issue more than so many times over."

Mr. Fulton: Was there any conversation preceding the dictation of that document?—Yes, sir. I cannot give you the actual words. Lord Kylesant proposed to make an issue of Debenture stock, probably 5 per cent. Debenture stock. Lord Kylesant asked me for what purposes we required funds.

What was your answer to that?—That we had a bank overdraft and that the then new building was drawing upon our resources, and we had to provide funds for that, and that there were one or two loans from certain companies which might require to be repaid. Beyond that I do not remember any specific item.

Mr. Lewis stated that Lord Kylesant said that the paragraph he had dictated was for incorporation in the proposed prospectus. On Lord Kylesant's instructions Mr. Lewis said that he got out certain figures and delivered them at Lord Kylesant's house that night.

Approved by Directors.

Mr. David Inglis Conradi, secretary of the R.M.S.P., said that it was at a meeting of the court of directors in June, 1928, that it was resolved to create an additional £2,000,000 of 5 per cent. Debenture stock and offer it for public subscription. The prospectus was put before the Court and approved.

Lord Mayor: Was there any discussion of the method or means of the company to pay the interest on the £2,000,000?—As far as I can recollect, the point was not raised.

Mr. Fulton: Was it the general practice of the company in preparing a fresh prospectus to use as the basis generally for it a copy of an old one?—Yes.

Lord Mayor: I should like you to tell me whether this prospectus as finally issued was submitted to the auditors before it was issued?—I have no first-hand knowledge that it was, but I believe it was, sir.

Do you remember evidence given, I think, in this court that the prospectus was held back until the auditors' return?—Yes, sir.

Therefore it was held back for the purpose of submission to the auditors?—I have no first-hand knowledge, my lord, as to the exact reason why it was held back.

You do not confirm the evidence that already was given that it was held back awaiting the return of the auditors?—I heard it was.

Did Auditor Approve?

Mr. Tucker: Had not your lordship in mind Mr. Pritt's opening rather than anything given in evidence?

Lord Mayor: I rather think that is quite possible. What I wanted to find out was whether the auditor approved this prospectus with that statement in it before it went to the printer and was finally issued to the public.

Mr. Tucker: Appearing as I do for Mr. Morland, I would respectfully point out that Mr. Morland is not a party to this charge in respect to the prospectus.

Lord Mayor: I am perfectly well aware of that, but I think it is essential that we should know that this document was issued to all persons interested before it was issued and if not on whose authority it was issued?

Mr. Tucker remarked that that would have to be elicited by evidence.

Mr. Conradi stated that in July, 1928, the court of directors approved the allotment to the stockholders and shareholders of the associated companies of £1,000,000, and to the general public of £600,000.

Lord Kylesant's Remuneration.

Referring to certain minutes at a meeting of the proprietors of the R.M.S.P. held in 1907, Mr. Conradi said as from Jan. 1, 1908, if the company paid dividends of 5 per cent. after writing off depreciation Lord Kylesant received as chairman remuneration based on 5 per cent. of the gross takings of the company.

Mr. Fulton: What would that amount to?—I do not know.

If the dividend paid on the Ordinary shares fell below 5 per cent. Lord Kylesant received £3,000 a year?—Yes.

Mr. Fulton was submitting a number of figures to Mr. Conradi, when Mr. Tucker suggested that, to save time, Mr. Conradi might examine them while the Court was not sitting and later submit them in bulk.

The Lord Mayor agreed that this would be an admirable plan.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONG KONG.

"Sermon" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 12.

The Golden Text was: "Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work." (John 4: 34.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:—"And he came out, and went, as he was wont, to the mount of Olives; and his disciples also followed him. And he was withdrawn from them about a stone's cast, and kneeled down, and prayed, Saying, Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done." (Luke 22: 39, 41, 42.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:—"If all who ever partook of the sacrament had really commemorated the sufferings of Jesus and drunk of his cup, they would have revolutionized the world. If all who seek his commemoration through material symbols will take up the cross, heal the sick, cast out evils, and preach Christ, or Truth, to the poor,—the receptive thought,—they will bring in the millennium." (p. 34.)

Due to arrive at Hong Kong July 18 on the M. V. Asama Maru, under the direction of the D. F. Robertson Travel Bureau, 408 South Spring Street, Los Angeles, will be a party of Eighty Californians.

Included in the party are Mr. F. E. Sweet, Millionaire Real Estate Operator, accompanied by Mrs. Sweet; Mr. Allen W. Ashburn, prominent Attorney, accompanied by Mrs. Ashburn, and Mr. George O'Connell, Millionaire Oil Operator.

This will be Mr. and Mrs. Robertson's 24th trip to Hong Kong.

Lord Mayor: Is there any minute approving the prospectus prior to its issue to the public?

Mr. Conradi: Yes.

Mr. Arthur Henry Milbourne, general secretary of the Union Castle Steamship Co. and formerly private secretary to Lord Kylesant, said that in 1928 he made, on Lord Kylesant's instructions, a rough draft of the prospectus, using the draft of the previous prospectus as a basis.

Referring to certain manuscript alterations on the printer's draft, Mr. Milbourne said that the words "annual balance available" had been substituted for the word "Profit." Lord Kylesant instructed him to make the change.

Mr. Milbourne said that there was another insertion in the handwriting of one of his assistants: "Although this company, in common with other shipping companies, has suffered from depression in the shipping industry." That was put in on his instructions.

Mr. Fulton: Had anyone given you instructions before you told your assistant that these words were to be added?—Yes, Lord Kylesant.

Prior to those instructions being given to you Lord Kylesant had an interview with Mr. Morland?—Yes.

Lord Mayor: Was it ever explained to you why the alteration should take place?—No, my lord.

Another insertion said: "No underwriting commission has been or will be paid."

Mr. Fulton: It is unusual, is it not, to make an issue without it being underwritten?—I do not know.

The hearing was adjourned.

WILD OATS AT OXFORD.

"Let Us Drink and Be Merry." To disbelieve the history of the Bible is not necessarily to disprove the spiritual truths of religion, but the latter are apt to be discredited by the exposure of the former, and many young men today throw out the baby with the bath water and proclaim morality to be an imposture and religion a fraud, because geology has shown that the earth was not created in six days.

Moreover, morality to-day must stand upon its own legs; it is no longer bolstered up by the systems of supernatural rewards and punishments upon which the religion of the past have laid such stress. Young people are frankly derisive of both, and seeing no prospect of divine compensation in the next world for the wine and kisses that morality bids them eschew in this one, taken in theory more or less unanimously, to the wine and kisses.

Thus the religious indifference which characterises the attitude to life of young people issues in a practical epicureanism, which finds in "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die" the only acceptable guide to conduct. Such an attitude, whatever it may mean for a mature sage, involves for the youth of the twentieth century a contemptuous repudiation of those inhibitions and restraints which the nineteenth century complacently termed its "morals," and is responsible for the legend of the excesses of modern youth. It is a legend which the young find flattering—it has secured for them a greater measure of public attention than young people have ever received before—and they do their best to keep it alive. The article in the "Isis" is only one manifestation of this laudable endeavour.

Some Sobering Thoughts.

The legend, I feel, was always truer in theory than in practice. I frequently observe young people of outrageous opinions behaving with exemplary propriety. Moreover, I think that of recent years there has been a diminution even in the outrageous opinions. There has, I am told, recently been something of a religious revival at Oxford.

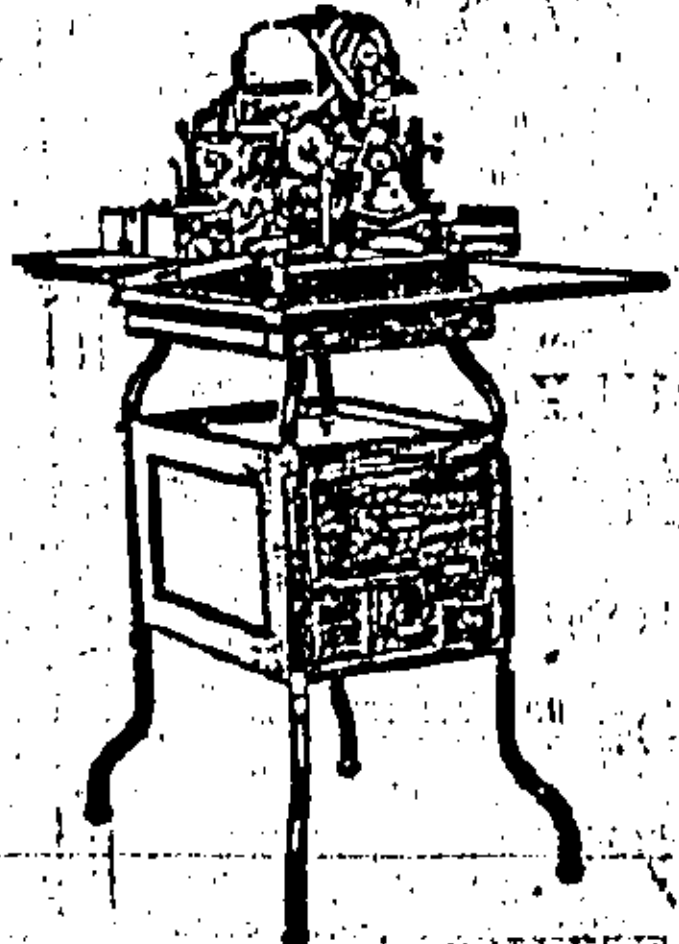

Whether this is so or not, a new seriousness seems to me to have crept into young people's attitude of life. They may knock the bottom out of the universe in theory, but they live in open morality in practice. A sobering influence is the growing uncertainty as to the future.

Never has it been so difficult even for the best educated to earn a living. Men spend four years at Oxford or Cambridge qualifying for the professions, and find the professions overstocked. For the average there is nothing but an office, for the athlete there is nothing but schoolmastering; even for the exceptional man, the chance of a place in law, politics or the Home Civil Service is remote. The prospect exerts a steady influence and makes men work harder on the whole than they ever did before. So far from modern youth being irresponsible, I should say that their responsibilities begin too early.

"WOMEN EVERYWHERE."

The Foreign Legion, that daring and desperate body of men whose martial qualities do much toward preserving peace in France's vast African colonies, plays a big part in "Women Everywhere," opening on Thursday at the Queen's Theatre, with J. Harold Murray and Fifi D'Orsay in the principal roles.In the picture Murray portrays the commander of a run-running vessel who accepts a cargo of arms and ammunition destined for the rebellious natives of Morocco. He is captured by the French, saved from death by a café entertainer, serves on the desert front with the Legion and returns covered with wounds and glory to claim the girl.Well-known players in the supporting cast include George Grosmith, Rose Dione, Clyde Cook and Ralph Kellard.

"GENTLEMAN'S FATE."

Queen's Theatre audiences had opportunity to renew their acquaintance with John Gilbert when his fourth talking picture, "Gentleman's Fate" commenced its run yesterday. As the dashing society man, Gilbert has a bad fall on the eve of his wedding to a wealthy lady, for he discovers that he is the son of a New Jersey racketeer and is forced to revert to the life of a gangster and killer.
Leila Hyams is the wealthy society woman, the lady that Jack wanted to marry but could not,
and Anita Page fills the gap in the life of the hero, in the fast moving plot of bootlegging, activities which provide a thrilling narrative with its rival gangs.
Louis Wolheim, as Jack's brother, plays an important part in the story, not the least of which is his scheme to protect his brother from the rival gang which is out to avenge the killing of a man whose sweetheart he took to flaunt defiance.The role of the rival gangster is taken by John Miljan, who is a master of himself as the bad man
Marie Prevost, George Cooper and Ralph Ince as others in the strong supporting cast. The plot is an interesting one, and inasmuch as it is bereft of the sordid side of underworld crime, it sets a new standard in gangster activities. The picture had a thrilling ending which is in keeping with the title and is preceded by a musical feature under the title of "Johnny Marvin."

CENTRAL THEATRE.

"MANY A SLIP."

What is said to be the most daring screen comedy of the season is "Many A Slip," which opens its engagement to-day at the Central Theatre. Joan Bennett and Lew Ayres are the featured players in this story of laughs and misunderstandings, and the cast also includes such well-known screen players as Slim Summerville, Virginia Sale, Ben Alexander, Vivian Oakland, Roscoe Karns and J.C.
Nugent.Lew Ayres, was recently presented by Universal in the leading role of Erich Maria Remarque's powerful story of the world-war,
"All Quiet At The Western Front."
He was also polled by the American public as the most handsome actor of 1931 in the cinema world."Many A Slip" tells the romantic story of a girl and a boy, with the girl discovering that she has fallen in love with the young man.
Feeling that he has positive ideas against marriage, and wishing to become his wife, the artful young lady allows him to think that she is expecting an interesting event, and they are married at once.KING'S THEATRE

From this point in the story complications pile up at a swift pace, and the plot is further thickened by the troubles of the housemaid.Laugh follows laugh, until the whole story finally explodes in a gale of merriment—but not until the characters have found themselves in exceedingly hot water.Vin Moore directed the picture, which was adapted for the screen by Gladys Lehman from the original story by Edith Fitzgerald.

"PLUNDER."

"Plunder," the British all-talking picture declared as an encouragement to the British Film Industry by His Majesty the King at the Trade Show held in London November last, will have its public screening on the 10th instant at the Central Theatre.The picture is a laugh-provoking production directed by Tom Walls, one of the foremost comedians of England. Tom Walls himself together with Ralph Lynn, another famous English laugh-maker have the leading roles.In brief, the story deals with Joan Hewitt, acted by Winifred Shotter, a sweet little creature of the screen, fiancée of D'Arcy Tuck (Ralph Lynn), who is being defrauded of her inheritance by her aunt, Mrs. Hewitt.Freddie Malone (Tom Walls), an adventurer, conspires burglary, in which Tuck takes part and choro-forms himself. During a melee, the brother of Mrs. Hewitt is accidentally killed.How Malone and Tuck cutwit Scotland Yard and eventually non-plus Mrs. Hewitt, restoring the inheritance to Joan, forms the last half of the picture.The action never lets up, and the incidents get funnier and funnier, probably reaching their most excruciating point in a superbly acted sequence where Malone and Tuck are interrogated at Scotland Yard.Those who like to see a comedy which has real British taste and those who longed for a change in the Americanised screen-dom of Hong Kong are advised not to miss this picture.

WORLD THEATRE.

"TRADER HORN."

"Trader Horn" which was recently shown simultaneously at the Queen's, Star and World theatres, has returned to the Colony for a week's run—this time at the World Theatre only.The scenes of the picture are in the jungles of Africa, where a white girl is treated as a goddess by a tribe of savages. Later this tribe capture two white men who are nearly sacrificed but for the timely intervention of the white goddess.
Their escape from the savages, and the encounters they had with every kind of wild animal, elephants, tigers, lions, zebras giraffe, etc., when armed with nothing but pointed sticks, are thrilling enough to recommend the viewing of this film.

STAR THEATRE.

"CHEER UP AND SMILE."

Hollywood's youngsters have their day in "Cheer Up and Smile," Fox Movietone of campus nights and Broadway lights now showing at the Star Theatre.Dixie Lee is too well known to a majority of cinema fans to need introduction. In "Cheer Up and Smile" she returns to the type of role which she made famous as the "Flo" who did the "Varsity Drag" in the Broadway musical comedy hit, "Good News."Arthur Lake, who plays college boy to Dixie's altogether delightful co-ed, is also no stranger to scholastic atmosphere, having portrayed Harold Teen in the picture after that name.The supporting cast contains more than a score of actual undergraduates from the University of California, many of them members of the "Varsity football squad," as well as talented young players as Johnny Arthur, John Darrow, Johnny Gatchell and Buddy Messinger.In featured roles, which vastly increase the hilarity and vivid human interest of this swift moving story are such famous folk as Smith and Franklin Pangborn.No picture dealing with youth would be complete without singing, and as a matter of fact the very plot of "Cheer Up and Smile" depends upon song. Music and

BRITISH PICTURES.

SUCCESS IN COLONIES AND DOMINIONS.In the past two years British International Pictures, who have specialised in the development of over seas markets for British talking pictures, have received in revenue from these markets the sum of £435,000.This is a magnificent result, and it forebodes still greater things to come when the Empire over-seas will take steps, as it must, to legislate more generally in favour of British talking pictures.Australia has shown that it wants still more British talking pictures, particularly those which are bright in character. In all, since January 1929, 61 British International films have been re-released in Australia, where outstanding successes have been "Atlantic,"
"The V. Plan," and "Young Wood-ley."

"THE MIDDLE WATCH."

A cablegram just from Australia brings gratifying news to British International Pictures of the over-whelming success of their product "down under.""The Middle Watch," the rollicking talkie from Ian Hay's story directed by Norman Walker, has scored a continuous triumph wherever it has been shown. At the Athenaeum, Melbourne, where it is now playing its seventh consecutive week, "The Middle Watch" has broken all records.An enthusiastic audience also accorded an overwhelming reception to "Cape Forlorn," the lighthouse drama directed by E. A. Dupont, which stars Fay Compton, on the occasion of its recent premiere at the Capitol, Sydney. It will be remembered that this British International talkie was at first banned in Australia and later passed by the Censor Appeal Board, which has also, as the cablegram states, passed "The Woman Between" for exhibition.Success in Colonial and foreign markets is now being won with encouraging regularity by British pictures, and British International Pictures pursue their activities abroad with even greater zeal and zeal.The results of showing British talking pictures in New Zealand have been really wonderful. The foreign sales manager of British International tells me that the people of New Zealand are more eager to see British talking pictures than the people of any other part of the Empire. He is, by every mail, in receipt of letters of appreciation from New Zealand filmgoers.I have no hesitation in taking it that New Zealand is intensely English because it contains such a large leavening of Scotsmen!Canada has been more difficult.
There, American interest have long been entrenched in theatres, and these interests, in my experience, have been, and still are, entirely and utterly hostile to the development of a British film industry.Fortunately this very hostility is having its inevitable reaction in quota legislation on behalf of British pictures. An enlightened Government and a sympathetic Board of Censors have perceived the danger of an American monopoly. I think Canada will lead the way in introducing effective legislation not only to facilitate the showing of British films within her own borders but also to compel the showing of British films in the United States—a circumstance as piquant as it is welcome.So far, since September, 1930, fourteen British International films have been presented in Canada, and this enterprising company is now planning to send talking pictures in French to the French-speaking population of this great Dominion.South Africa has always been a wonderful market for British talking pictures. It was by a short head the first market, and it remains in the number of films shown, very easily the best.India is a market of increasing importance, which is a welcome circumstance, since in India the effects of the domination of the American films have been most lamentable. The showing of white men and women in circumstances of contempt has been a sinister influence in causing disaffection among the native races.The British picture market in India is a tremendously well-come, and from Jamaica, till recently an exclusive American film territory, there is evidence that British talking pictures are wanted and welcome.MOVIELAND

THE ALDERSHOT TATTOO.

TRIUMPH OF COLOUR AND MOVEMENT.

HOW WARRIOR QUEEN FOUGHT ROMANS.

Aldershot, June 12.—From prologue to epilogue the Command Tattoo was, to-night, at the first full-dress searchlight rehearsal, a brilliant success.

Between the opening, at sundown, with the sounding of "Retreat" and "Tattoo" by bugle, drum and fife, and the closing, at midnight, with the singing of "Abide with me" and the sounding of the plaintive "Last Post," the stage at Rushmore provided a continuous feast of music, colour and movement. One saw dashing, brightly-caparisoned cavalry, and footsoldiers reproducing epics of military heroism and splendour which have gone to the making of our island story. On account of the sudden state of the ground the gunners did not perform their elaborate evolutions to-night.

Brilliantly conceived, artistically planned and splendidly executed, this year's Command performance, embracing both ancient and modern exploits of valour and rhythmical and stately parades and displays, compares favourably with past spectacular achievements of this character.

Music is the crowning glory of the Tattoo. The entrances and exits of the massed hands never fail in their appeal. Coming from the distant woods, one hears the gentle whisper of sprightly arresting music. It grows gradually louder with the slow oncoming march of the glittering "square" until it reaches a volume of harmony which goes echoing through the belt of trees and the dies away as the musicians retreat to the dark wooded enclosure.

Blaze of Light.

The semi-circle of searchlights perform the double duty of enveloping the bands in a blaze of light and illuminating their path of approach and departure. When all the powerful searchlights were concentrated on the mass of red-coated soldiers, the picture was enchanting. It was heightened by their bright accoutrements, and instruments reflecting the beams of light and sending out something akin to heliographic signals in dazzling bewilderment.

For the episodic narrative the spectators are taken back to the beginning of organised warfare. The French, this year, are celebrating the martyrdom of Joan of Arc, their warrior-leader of 500 years ago. Here, at Rushmore, we are celebrating the exploits of Boadicea, Britain's warrior queen, who fought the Romans A.D. 61.

Boadicea is represented, urging her soldiers vigorously to oppose the disciplined Roman soldiers after the seizure, by them, of her territory and the brutal cruelty they had inflicted on the inhabitants.

There are four phases. The first deals with the initial raid; the remainder with Boadicea's effort and that of her undisciplined soldiers.

Burning City.

A Roman city is burning and suddenly the invaders are seen advancing in battle order. At this time fighting on foot appears to have been in considerable discredit, as, indeed, it is to-day. Cavalry and chariots of war constituted the main strength of armies. The Britons are retreating in great disorder before the Roman cavalry. There has been terrible slaughter and Boadicea and her warriors have been overwhelmed.

In the next scene soldiers have been temporarily exalted to high rank. One acts the part of Emperor, and there are many Generals and Consuls sharing the fruits of an easily won victory.

Later in the programme we are taken to Spain to follow Sir John Moore's retreat to Corunna. This is a more gloomy episode, since it re-enacts the burial of the beloved leader. Sir John Moore had often expressed the hope that if he was killed in action he might be buried where he fell.

We have a realistic representation of the body being removed at midnight to the citadel of Corunna. A grave was dug for him on the rampart by a body of the 6th Foot. No coffin could be procured, so that the officers of his staff wrapped the body, dressed as it was, in a military cloak and blankets.

Requiem.

Charles Wolfe's immortal poem is recited as "slowly and sadly we laid him down." The Army in retreat is a realistic bit of work. The column, heavily pressed by the French cavalry, is slowly moving along the road. Tired, hungry, ragged, and dirty, the men throw away their equipment, having lost the strength to carry it, and at last, utterly exhausted, they fall by the way. It is an impressive picture.

In the "Evolution of engines of war" display, we are introduced to the strangest of machines for propelling missiles—the catapult, ballista, battering ram, and other devices of antiquity. The ballista was used to overthrow the battlements and the catapult to shoot any of the besieged who appeared between them. In another scene we see the modern engines of war and the "Stinger" building a bridge which the column crosses under fire. The first public performance is to be given to-morrow night.

GAVE LIFE FOR SON.

CROYDON LAWYER'S SLIP TO DEATH IN ALPS.

Geneva.—Mr. Arthur Clifford Fountaine, a lawyer, of Woodberry, Melville-avenue, South Croydon, has been killed while making the ascent of the Grand Pavé (more than 10,000ft. high), near Fionnay, in company with his son Dennis, a law student, aged 23.

Mr. Fountaine, who was 56 years of age, and his son left Fionnay at 7 o'clock one morning in good weather and reached the Pannofière but about 10 o'clock.

Continuing up a steep slope covered with snow, the son lost his footing and slid back.

His father, who had been in front, hastened to his assistance, but slipped, and rolling down the treacherous slope, struck his head against a projecting rock.

Young Mr. Fountaine, who was himself unhurt, managed to reach his father, but found him dead. He attached the body to the rock by means of the rope and went for help. The body was later brought down to Fionnay.

GUARDS FIRE ON FISHERMEN.

INCIDENT ON THE RHINE.

Strassburg, July 5.—Two Alsatian fishermen were shot at by German Customs guards and one seriously wounded near the Strassburg suburb Wangenau last night. The boat of the two had been carried by a strong current toward the German bank of the Rhine, where the Customs guards, challenged it in the belief that the two inmates of the boat were smugglers. When the two fishermen ignored the challenge, the guards opened fire.

The Press describes the incident as "regrettable," even though it admits that the guards acted according to their instructions. The man who had escaped injury confessed that the Germans had repeatedly challenged them, though he strenuously denied that they had been on a smuggling expedition.

ILLNESS IN THE TROPICS.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE ROSS INSTITUTE.

COST OF MALARIA DETAILED.

The annual report for 1930 of the Ross Institute and Hospital for Tropical Diseases contains some extremely interesting information in connection with the splendid work which is being carried on in London year by year.

The year has been remarkable for the large number of visitors to the Institute from all parts of the world, showing the interest taken in the work of the different departments. In the Department of Tropical Medicine and Dermatology researches have been made in a number of "minor diseases and little-known ailments" which, though not usually grave, can cause a great deal of discomfort; some of them have never been described before, and they include climatic diseases, fevers, internal diseases, and diseases of the organs of special sense of the skin and of the hair.

Malaria Department.
The Malaria Department has prepared a special note on the "Cost of Malaria" estimating the direct annual cost of sickness and death attributable to malaria in the British Empire alone at from 50 to 60 million Pounds, and the world death-rate from malaria at two millions a year.

In addition there was a vast loss from diminished industrial efficiency. In Malaya, the cost of production of malarial estates was 25 per cent. higher than on those on which malaria had been controlled. In West Africa, the revenues must provide for double the British staff required for the efficient conduct of administration, because in addition to normal leave absence, deficiencies due to invaliding, extensions of leave from ill-health and local absence from duty for the same cause had to be reckoned with.

Valuable Data.

Data of great scientific and practical value was being accumulated as a result of Sir Malcolm Watson's investigations into the malarial problem in the Rhodesian mines. Mr. C. R. Harrison has been sent out by the Institute to organize anti-malarial work on the new Zambesi Bridge site and on the railway which runs from the Zambesi River to Lake Nyasa.

In Malaya, the Department has kept in close touch with the malarial control scheme of the Perak Hydro Electric Power Co., Ltd., largely owing to anti-malarial work, the health record established over the building of the company's dam at Chenderoh had never been surpassed in any construction scheme in any tropical climate, and proved what could be done to keep people healthy when engaged in large engineering works in the tropics.

By way of interesting laymen in the problem, courses demonstrating practical aspects of mosquito and malaria control have been arranged at the Ross Institute, and have been well attended by planters. In an appendix to the Report entitled "The Result of Malaria Prevention on a Rubber Estate in the Malay Peninsula," interesting statistics appear through a comparison of conditions in 1911 and in 1923; the number of deaths fell from 202 to 2, and a hospital which was overflowing in 1911 was empty in 1923.

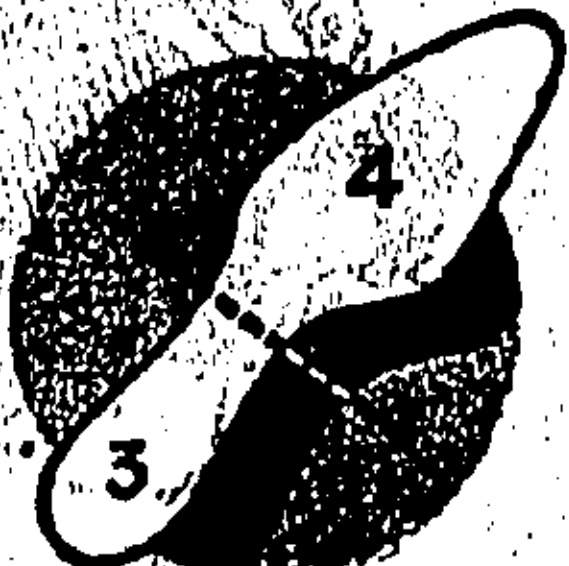

"During the year under review Dr. J. A. Shaw-Mackenzie continued his researches at the Institute on the blood in Cancer, and further investigations had been continued on natural and acquired immunization in this disease.

COUNTY CRICKET MATCHES RESULTS.

SOMERSET'S FINE WIN OVER MIDDLESEX; YORKS DRAW WITH NEW ZEALANDERS.

HOBBS AND SANDHAM IN ANOTHER BIG PARTNERSHIP: WORCESTER EASILY ACCOUNT FOR NORTHAMPSHIRE.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

London, July 10.

The brightest spot in the mid-week cricket programme (results of which came to hand over the week-end) was Somerset's fine win over the formidable Middlesex combination. Notts had a very close escape from outright defeat by Leicester in a match which saw Geary in his deadliest form with the ball.

The New Zealanders declared in both innings in their effort to force a win against Yorkshire, but wet weather intervened and the game was left drawn. The Surrey giants, Hobbs and Sandham, again figured in a century first wicket partnership, both players getting three figures, and were mainly the cause of Glamorgan's heavy defeat at the hands of the Oval team.

The most notable batting and bowling performances were:—

Batting		Bowling
Sandham (Surrey)	175	Wensley (Sussex)	12 for 95
Walters (Worcester)	163	Geary (Leicester)	7 for 27
Hopwood (Lancashire)	123	Sibbles (Lancashire)	6 for 25
Gibbons (Worcester)	113	Verity (Yorkshire)	6 for 67
Hobbs (Surrey)	106	A. E. G. Baring
Croom (Warwick)	102*	(Hants) 5 for 63
H. G. Vivian (N.Z.)	101	Brook (Worcester)	5 for 63
Paynter (Lancashire)	100	Freeman (Kent)	5 for 82
		Tate (Sussex)	4 for 41

The method of scoring this year is as follows:—15 points for a win, 7½ points for a tie, 5 points for a win on the first innings and 3 points for a loss on the first innings; 4 points for a tie on the first innings and 4 points for a no result.

SURREY v. GLAMORGAN.

HOBBS AND SANDHAM AGAIN!

Hobbs and Sandham, the famous Surrey opening pair, again figured in a big partnership when they opened the innings for Surrey after their opponents (Glamorgan) had compiled 192 runs in the first knock. Hobbs made 106 runs and Sandham 175, the side totalling 470 for 5, declared.

Faced with a deficit of 284 in the first innings, things did not look too bright for Glamorgan when they went in for the second time and when they had only scored 151 their last wicket fell, leaving Surrey winners by an innings and 133 runs.

The scores were:—
Glamorgan, 1st innings 192
Surrey, 1st innings (5 wickets, declared) 470
Hobbs, 106
Sandham, 175
Glamorgan, 2nd innings 151

KENT v. HAMPSHIRE.

GOOD BOWLING BY FREEHAM AND BARING.

At Tanbridge Wells, Hampshire took first innings points from the top county.

The former, batting first, compiled 274 runs, Freeman taking 5 wickets for 82, and in reply to this total, Kent made 244. Baring (5 for 33) was the most successful bowler for Hampshire.

Rain interfered with play to a certain extent with the result that when Hampshire had only made 141 for the loss of 3 wickets, stumps had to be drawn, leaving the scores:—
Hampshire, 1st innings 274
Freeman, 5 for 82
Kent, 1st innings 244
Baring, 5 for 33
Hampshire, 2nd innings (for 3 wickets) 141

LANCS v. WARWICK.

CENTURIES FOR HOPWOOD AND PAYNTER.

This match came off at Manchester and resulted in a win on the first innings for Lancashire.

Lancashire took first knock when they put up 332 runs, Hopwood (120) and Paynter (100), being their chief contributors. Warwick replied with 204. Croom playing a fine innings for 102 not out, while Sibbles handled judiciously, took 6 wickets for 25 runs.

Lancashire declared at 88 for the loss of three wickets in their second innings and after Warwick had put up 94 for 2 in reply, stumps were drawn, the scores being:—
Lancashire, 1st innings 332
Hopwood, 120
Paynter, 100
Warwick, 1st innings 204
Croom, 102 not out
Sibbles, 6 for 25

Lancashire, 2nd innings (3 wickets, declared) 83
Warwick, 2nd innings (for 2 wickets) 94

SOMERSET v. MIDDLESEX.

FINE WIN FOR HOME COUNTY.

At Bath, Somerset registered a fine win over Middlesex by 132 runs.

The winners had first use of the wickets when they compiled 218, and in reply to this total, Middlesex only managed 126.

In their second innings Somerset got 229, and although Middlesex made a big effort to pull the game round, they could not get more than 139, leaving Somerset winners as above stated.

The scores were:—
Somerset, 1st innings 218
Middlesex, 1st innings 126
Somerset, 2nd innings 229
Middlesex, 2nd innings 139

NORTHANTS v. WORCESTER.

TEN-WICKET VICTORY FOR WORCESTER.

Making the trip to Northamptonshire, Worcester returned with a fine ten-wicket victory, thanks to some fine batting by Walters and Gibbons.

Northants batted first and made 251. To this total Worcester replied with 415, Walters (163) and Gibbons (113) treating the spectators to some free cricket.

In their second innings Northants again failed to get going and were all out for the total of 185. Worcester knocked off the required runs without any loss, the scores being:—
Northants, 1st innings 251
Worcester, 1st innings 415
Walters, 163
Gibbons, 113
Northants, 2nd innings 185
Brook, 6 for 83
Worcester, 2nd innings (for 0 wickets) 23

LEICESTER v. NOTTS.

GEARY IN DEADLY FORM.

At Leicester, Notts were lucky to escape outright defeat at the hands of the home county.

The visitors batted first but against some deadly stuff from Geary, who returned the remarkable analysis of 7 for 27, were all out for the paltry total of 93. Notts replied with 204.

In the second innings, however, Notts improved considerably and scored 250 when Leicester had got together 25 for 2, stumps were drawn.

The scores were:—
Notts, 1st innings 93
Geary, 7 for 27
Leicester, 1st innings 204
Notts, 2nd innings 250
Leicester, 2nd innings (for 2 wickets) 25

GIANT TELESCOPE.

NEW EQUIPMENT AT GREENWICH.

Two new telescopes are to be installed at the Royal Observatory at Greenwich.

On the annual visitation of the Board of Visitors the model of one of them was exhibited in the library.

It is 36in. in diameter and will be erected in an enclosure in the park. It is to be used to measure the temperatures of the stars.

A second new instrument is also to be erected in the park. This is a new transit circle, and is to take the place of the famous transit circle that for 80 years has marked the zero meridian of the earth from which all longitude and all time systems are reckoned.

The new transit circle will not be erected on the Greenwich meridian. But since it is obviously impossible to change the Greenwich meridian—it would mean changing all maps and charts and starting a new time system—a correction will be applied to all the observations made with the new instrument to allow for the slight difference in position.

To the guests the great 29-in. telescope—the largest astronomical instrument in this country—was the chief attraction.

It was trained on a double star in the constellation of the Lion, and most of those present took the opportunity of seeing, with its aid, these two points of light shining together in the broad daylight sky.

The large revolving dome which covers this instrument has just been equipped with an electric motor for moving it.

YORKS v. NEW ZEALANDERS.

MATCH DRAWN AT HARROGATE.

Despite the fact that the visitors declared in both innings in an effort to force a win, this match was left drawn owing to the fact that play was considerably hampered by rain.

The New Zealanders had first knock when Vivian (101) treated the gallery to some nice batting. His side scored 303 for 8 declared. Yorkshire replied with 189, and after the tourists had put together 123 for 8 in their second knock, the innings was declared closed. Verity bowled well to take 6 wickets for 67 runs. Yorkshire improved somewhat in their second effort and had already collected 192 for 4 when stumps were drawn.

The scores were:—
New Zealanders, 1st innings (8 wickets, declared) 303
Vivian, 101
Yorkshire, 1st innings 189
New Zealanders, 2nd innings (8 wickets, declared) 123
Yorkshire, 2nd innings (for 4 wickets) 192

RECORD LOW SCORE.

SHANGHAI POLICE ALL OUT FOR SEVEN RUNS!

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

Shanghai, July 11.

In a league cricket match here this afternoon, the Shanghai Police established a record by being all out for 7 runs! The feat, coupled with the bowling of O. D. Wales, formerly of Hong Kong, brought about the collapse of the Police.

The quick procession of the Police batters to and from the pavilion created much amusement for the spectators. The Police were playing against one of the Shanghai Cricket Club teams who scored seventy-odd runs in reply to their opponents' seven!

[It will be remembered that when Wales was here about four years ago, he was one of the mainstays of the Hong Kong Cricket Club attack. He was also picked to represent the Colony against Shanghai in an interport match. Wales bowls left-hand—slow to medium and is also a Bagger, player of no mean ability, having turned out for Middlesex at home and he also captained the Colony's XV against the northern port.]

[So far as the total is concerned, it is not the lowest on record as Kent were dismissed for 8 runs in their match with the Bexley Club which included Lord F. Blandford and J. Hammond on Dartford Heath in 1803. In 1910, the "B's" with John Wessels and J. Dawrell were all out for the same total in a match against England at Lord's. In this case, however, the "B's" were one man short.]

MURDER AT SWATOW.

ANSHUN'S COMPRADORE STABBED TO DEATH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Swatow, July 10.
At 10 o'clock this morning the Compradore of the B. & S.'s Singapore steamer Anshun was stabbed outside the Company's offices by a former employee of his, named Lee, who then surrendered himself and was handed over to the police. The victim—Mr. Lee Chiu Choh—is about 50 years of age, and after first aid was removed to the E.P. Mission Hospital. His condition is critical. Local gossip connects the attempted murder with a seizure of opium some months ago on board the Anshun by the Swatow Customs.

LATER.

Mr. Lee Chiu Choh died at 2 p.m. to-day, and his assailant is in custody on the charge of murder.

SQUALL OUTSIDE HARBOUR.

FISHING JUNK IN DIFFICULTIES.

A squall outside the Harbour at about mid-day yesterday nearly resulted in the loss of a fishing junk which sailed from Aberdeen yesterday with a crew of twelve men and two women.

Just before one o'clock in the afternoon, when the junk was between Cape D'Aguilar and Waglan, the squall became so heavy that the junk became water-logged. Fortunately her plight was noticed by the wireless operator at Cape D'Aguilar, who according to a police report, went out to the assistance of the junk in a boat. Meanwhile, No. 4 Police launch in charge of Divisional Inspector Lane also arrived at the scene and with the aid of two other junks managed to support the water-logged craft until it was successfully towed into Shaukiwan harbour.

No vessels shall be brought alongside or lie off any of the said portions of the seawall, or shall any vessel, other than the ferry vessels using the said piers, approach any of such portions of the seawall.

RUN ON MUNICIPAL BANK OF CANTON.

COUNTERFEITERS BEING TRACKED BY DETECTIVES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Canton, July 12.
Owing to some misunderstanding on the part of the public, a "run" was started on the Canton Municipal Bank on Tai Ping Road, South, yesterday. The Bank was crowded with people clamouring for the redemption of their notes. The authorities laid no restrictions on the amount of their banknotes to be redeemed at one time, and those losing confidence in the value of their legal tender were served with the greatest rapidity. No one, therefore, experienced any difficulty in the redemption of his banknotes.

The "run" was a result of rumours to the effect that the Municipal Bank had made another issue of banknotes amounting to $300,000, which was $900,000 in excess of the figure announced. Some of these newly circulated banknotes, it is alleged, had duplicate numbers. Suspicion was aroused, and some people lost confidence in them as a result.

Upon investigation it was disclosed that the Municipal Bank did not issue any more that it had publicly announced and that the numbers stamped on the new banknotes followed the old ones in logical order. Those having identical numbers must, therefore, be fictitious. This was found actually to be the case, and a group of detectives has been employed to track down the counterfeiters. But so far no arrests have been made.

(Wah Tse Yat Pao.)

Canton, July 12.

CHINA AND THE HOOVER MORATORIUM.

(Wah Tse Yat Pao.)

WASHINGTON, July 12.
Mr. Yung Kwei, Chinese Chargé d'Affaires at Washington, called at the State Department of the American Government last Friday and asked whether President Hoover's moratorium plan was intended to apply to China's foreign obligations.

The State Department has promised to make arrangements for a Sino-American conference to discuss the matter.

INTERPORT SOCCER.

CANTON NAVY MEET THE BRITISH NAVY.

VICTORY FOR CANTON.

The Canton Government is taking a keen interest in fostering football and many of the Chinese players from Hong Kong are now in the ranks of either the Police or the Navy. On Saturday the Canton Navy sent a representative team to Hong Kong to try conclusions on the football field with the British Navy. After an interesting game, the Canton Navy won by the odd goal in three. The match was played on the Chinese Athletic Stadium at North Point, which was decorated in keeping with the first naval interport.

There were over 3,000 spectators, many of whom had come from Canton and among the visitors were the following officers of the Canton Navy:—Lieut. Commander Shao Kangleo, who is the manager of the Naval football team; Commander Chan Kot, Lieutenant-Commanders T. Y. Tang and Wing Wai, Lieutenants Chen See Wing and Chau Chung Kee. Amongst the prominent Hong Kong spectators were the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., LL.D., Mr. W. T. So, O.B.E., LL.D., Mr. Wang Kwong Tin, J.P., and officials of the Chinese Athletic who were in charge of the arrangements.

Penalty Goal Decided.
Owing to the earlier rains, the ground was slightly slippery, but a fast game ensued in which the British Navy held the upper hand.

CANTON REPORTS RED SUCCESS.

"GREY" TROOPS IN KIANGSI TURN TRAITOR?

(CENTRAL PRESS.)

Canton, July 11.

Chiang Kai Shek is planning to dispatch several more loyal divisions into Kiangsi to fight the Reds in view of the doubtful attitude of the several "grey" units, according to a Central Press dispatch from Fuchow, the field headquarters of the Nanking General. However, only one loyal division can be sent from Honan, as the other divisions are on important garrison duties along the Lunghai Railway.

The same message says that about four thousand loyal Nanking troops were routed by the Communists in southern Kiangsi, hence further divisions have to be sent into that area. There are altogether about fifteen divisions in Kiangsi, but those forces were recruited from the northern units under Yen Hsi Shao and Feng Yu Hsiang and joined the "Nanking" ranks in order to save themselves from hunger and cold.

The grey or doubtful soldiers are most reluctant to face the Communists, and it is reliably stated that two divisions have surrendered to the Red army bringing with them their arms and complete equipment. The mercenary grey troops are ready to fight for the Reds as they did for the northern commanders, since the Communists see to it that the new recruits are paid and fed.

Interviewed by Central Press, an officer of the 19th Route Army who returned from Kiangsi yesterday, stated that Chiang Kai Shek originally intended to dispatch the grey troops as vanguards against the Reds, so that they either kill the Reds or would be shot down by them. His scheme of killing two birds with one stone being unsuccessful, Chiang Kai Shek has to fall back on his own troops, the so-called Whampoa men. Unless Chiang can send at least eight more loyal divisions into Kiangsi, the same officer believes that the anti-Red campaign will drag on indefinitely.

Stories of sweeping victories against the Reds are but authorized statements by Chiang's field headquarters.

A RUMOUR DENIED.

SHEK CHENG ARSENAL NOT TAKEN.

(CENTRAL PRESS.)

Canton, July 12.

Chiang Kai Shek's propaganda is not only childish but unconvincing, declared a senior officer of the First Group Army who commented upon the report that the Shek Cheng Arsenal was taken by reactionary troops.

"If Shek Cheng were occupied by pro-Chiang elements, Canton would be in a precarious position," he declared. The "revolt" on that day was but the firing of flash light crackers by the villagers on the occasion of the Dragon Boat Festival.

The 50th Division is admittedly one of the crack units, but its loyalty is never for a moment doubted. In fact its officers and men are most anxious to form the vanguard in the coming punitive expedition against Chiang Kai Shek.

At half time by the only goal scored to that stage.

Savage, the local custodian, received much applause when he saved a fine shot after Leung Tat Wing, playing inside left, had broken through the defence. The Chinese goalkeeper had also a busy time and a header from Wyatt missed the post by inches. Wyatt, however, succeeded in beating Chiu Han shortly before half-time.

In the second half, the Chinese lost an opportunity to score with Savage enticed from his charge. On another visit the Chinese were more fortunate as Mowbray, in attempting to head the ball out, sent it into his own goal. The exchanges were very lively until Carter made the mistake of handling in the penalty area. Chuck Kwok Kwong took the spot kick to give the visitors the lead.

Play was transferred frequently and the locals made strenuous efforts to even up matters, but the final whistle sounded with the score unaltered, the Chinese Navy winning by two goals to one.

The teams lined out as under, the referee being Mr. Darlington:—

British Naval Team:—Savage, Carter, Mowbray, Robertson, Warner, Kearney, Vaughan, Shand, Wyatt, Bennett, Branch.
Chinese Canton Naval Team:—Chiu Han, Lai Yuk Tat, Wong Tin Fan, Wong Wing Hong, Wong Shui Wah, Lam Yuk Hu, Lai Choi Kwo, Leung Tat Wing, Chuck Kwok Kwong, Ko Wai Tin, Wu Tin Fo.

WOOLLEN MILL FOR CHINA.

SUGGESTION OF SHANGHAI CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

MEETING DOMESTIC DEMANDS.

Nanking, July 6.—Establishment as soon as possible of a large-scale Government woollen factory, for the manufacture of woollen piece-goods to meet domestic demands is urged by the Greater Shanghai Chamber of Commerce in a petition submitted to the Ministry of Industry.

The petition points out that woollens have become one of the necessities of the people; the value of the annual imports of woollens and serges having mounted to the startling figure of over Tls. 50 millions. Notwithstanding such colossal leakage, no serious attempt has been made to establish factories of our own to produce woollens in competition with imported foreign manufacturers. During the last years, a few small woollen factories have been opened but these are scarcely in a position to affect in any way the continual influx of foreign woollens.

Continuing, the petition points out that England is the foremost woollen factory for the manufacturing country in the world. The raw wool used by English woollen manufacturers is largely imported from Australia, Siberia and China. Yorkshire is the centre of the British woollen industry, Bradford being the most important distributing centre. Thousands of people are dependent upon this industry for their livelihood.

After referring to the fact that France and Japan have also recently entered into competition with England for the Chinese market in woollens, the petition states that it was partly with a view to reviving the British woollen export trade with China that the British Economic Mission was despatched to this country.

It is reported, says the petition, that as the result of the investigation, a gigantic combine of woollen manufacturers has been formed in order to enable British woollens to compete with Japan and France.

Concluding, the petition points out that as the establishment of a native woollen manufactory is indispensable to meet the needs of the people as well as to stop the further outflow of our national wealth, concrete steps should be immediately taken to give effect to this proposal.

RESTORING VIRTUES OF CHINA.

MEDALS TO BE AWARDED AS PUBLIC RECOGNITION.

Nanking, July 5.—The various time-honoured virtues of the country—such, for example, as loyalty, filial piety, fidelity and benevolence—which have been steadily losing their hold upon the people since the influx of Western civilization, are to be revived.

At the 149th meeting of the Legislative Yuan held yesterday, a new Law providing for the public recognition of virtue was adopted.

The new Law, which consists of 16 articles in all, provides that tablets or medals of honour shall be conferred upon persons under either of the following two categories:—

1. Those who are distinguished for moral eminence through the practice of the virtues of loyalty, filial piety, benevolence, love, faithfulness, fidelity and peace.
2. Those who either promote and sponsor or make substantial financial contributions to such institutions as public schools, philanthropic societies and other enterprises devoted to the promotion of public welfare.

The district, municipal and provincial authorities shall be responsible for the investigation within their respective jurisdictions of cases calling for public commendation as provided for by this law.

It is understood that the law has been drafted at the instance of President Chiang Kai-shek, who, in his public pronouncements, has time and again called the attention of the nation to the necessity of reviving these time-honoured virtues.

Strengthen those Nerves

Neurasthenia (nerve-weakness) has been called the "disease of the 20th century." It is estimated that 95% of the population suffer from it. Trembling of the hands, irritability, restlessness are a few symptoms; so are sleeplessness, stomach trouble, lack of energy. All are due to one cause—weakness of the nerve-cells. It follows then, the only logical way to conquer these complaints is to strengthen the nervous system.

You can do that with Sanatogen. As a well-known physician has stated: "Sanatogen goes right to the core of well-being, viz., the cells and builds these up into a fabric of lasting health." Sanatogen feeds the cells of the body with the exact proportion of those elements—glycophosphate and albumin—from which new nerve-strength is derived.

After a short course of Sanatogen nerve-weakness will disappear and very soon you will feel radiantly healthy again—strong and energetic—with a keen appetite and a new joy in life. Start taking Sanatogen to-day and notice its wonderful influence on your health.

HONG KONG, JULY 13, 1931.

THE EUROPEAN CRISIS.

The great European crisis roused by the threatened bankruptcy of Germany is due to both political and economic causes. The two factors react upon the other and cannot be separated. Germany declares that she is on the verge of national bankruptcy and, as a prelude of what is to come, we have news of the reported collapse of one of the country's greatest firms, the Norddeutsche Wool Company.

The suggestion is that without international help, banks, immense companies and other industrial firms will shortly go the same way, and the whole country will fall into unimaginable chaos, out of which either a Bolshevik or a militant Fascist regime will emerge. To the lay mind the whole crisis is a mystery. Germany, like every other nation, has a tremendous burden of unemployment, and she has to make heavy payments of reparations; but against that she has great industries, nationalised and developed since the war, a steady and hardworking population, no crime burden like America, a sound and extensive agriculture, an efficient Government, and practically no expenditure on armaments. Out East we know that German shipping and German trade generally is regaining its old place. The only answer to the mystery is to put another query, "Why should America be suffering?"

Both England and America have responded to Germany's appeal and have made offers of help, based not only on generosity but, in the long run, on self interest. A bankrupt and Bolshevik, or even Fascist, Germany would not suit us.

The attitude of France is of utter disbelief in Germany's peril and distress. If Germany wants financial help she must make political concessions. She must abandon the proposed Customs Union with Austria and scrap her "pocket battleship." These demands are typical of the implacable hatred with which the French Government has pursued Germany since the War. Had a reasonable indemnity been imposed, and some consideration shown to a proud nation's patriotic feelings, Republican Germany would probably have accepted the post-war position and helped in a re-settlement of Europe on a stable and prosperous basis. But France with the memory of old fears and old wrongs was determined to have every milligram of her kilo of flesh, and all the blood that went with it. The British and the American plans for reparations only for the re-building of devastated areas were contemptuously rejected and France has frankly sought to bankrupt and dismember Germany, while she herself, by maintaining conscription and creating an immense air force, has perpetuated the militaristic spirit. No leading Power has been blameless since the Armistice, and Germany has not been without serious fault. But is any great and proud nation likely to be meek and submissive under the heel of a conqueror, who occupies its territory, keeps it disarmed, and exacts the last farthing in indemnities? No wonder militarism has smouldered in Germany. The danger to France lies in the hatred of German people, and France has done everything in its power to fan that hatred, not only in those who suffered in the national defeat, but in the generation that should have been growing up free from war-bitterness. Hate and fear are masters. They are, as a theologian would put it, twin sons of the Devil. As guides they lead into the way of cruelty, avarice and folly. They have been the familiar spirits of the Poincaré school of politicians.

The danger to-day from Germany lies in a Fascist revolution, and a defiant repudiation of the "Young plan slavery" under which Germany pays the Allied Powers £100,000,000 a year. Even French military experts are agreed that Germany cannot go to war. But the French themselves are saying that Germany is preparing for revolt, as she did after Jena, when NAPOLEON put Prussia in chains. And France knows that the post-Jena revolt crushed NAPOLEON at Leipzig. Germany is certainly not in a position to attack France, but a nation, aroused and on the defensive can do things beyond the measuring of experts. TROTSKY'S Red Army, raised in exhausted Russia, swept out all invaders; KAMAT PASHA not only defeated the Greeks, and drove the Entente from Constantinople in the distant past Holland and Switzerland in turn broke the might of the Hapsburg Empire. A braver and more generous policy is needed if Europe is to be saved from war and tyranny, and not least of all, America will have to give up complacently pocketing the money for War Debts that, in the last resort, was wrung from Germany.

VENEZUELA'S DICTATOR.

THAT extraordinary veteran General JUAN VICENTE GOMEZ has resumed, at the age of 72, the Presidency of Venezuela. He has been, to all intents and purposes, ruler of the country for 21 years, sometimes holding the office of President himself, sometimes allowing another to perform the titular duties of the highest officer while he, as Commander-in-Chief of the army, retained the real power. His return to the Presidency is the more surprising in that two years ago he declined to accept renomination when it was strongly pressed upon him; that he should have consented to fill the gap caused by the premature resignation of Dr. PEREZ is a sign that he has failed to performed at least one of the duties of a dictator—to train up a successor. The rule of General GOMEZ has been creditable to himself and beneficial to his country. His methods of suppressing opposition have been (like those of most dictators) hardly in accordance with the ideas of British Liberalism. But he has succeeded in developing the commercial resources of the country on sound and prudent lines, and has not in so doing subjected it to a crushing burden of foreign debt. On a much smaller scale, his policy might be likened to that of the Five-year Plan in Russia. The political problems of dictatorship have been attacked with less success. If General GOMEZ believed that he had established an administrative machine capable of functioning without his aid, he would hardly have emerged from influential retirement to take over again the conduct of office. That is the fundamental problem for all dictators: Death cannot be put down like a street riot. One must compromise with death, by giving away beforehand the power of which it strips one. And few dictators can make that compromise.

The Romance of Empire.

The encyclopedia which will provide an absorbing story of romance and adventure has just been published. It is designed as a complete history and guide to the British Empire. The publication will not only provide a work of interest and reference in thousands of British homes in all parts of the world, but also in Universities, Colleges, schools and libraries. No similar publication, bringing together in one set of volumes all that is known of Great Britain, the Dominions, and the Colonies has appeared before. It has been likened in the London Press to "A Domesday Book of Empire." It consists of 1,250,000 words divided into over 4,500 articles contributed by statesmen, administrators, explorers and authors—all experts in the subjects about which they write. There are over 2,000 illustrations from photographs and many coloured and black and white maps. The big task of editing this work has been in the hands of Mr. C. W. DOMVILLE-RIFE, the author of 22 books on travel and Empire or foreign affairs. Among early purchasers of this encyclopedia were H.R.H. the Prince of Wales and H.R.H. the Duke of York.

Why Does a Hen Cackle?

Why does a cat arch its back? Why does an owl hoot? Do guinea pigs ever go to sleep? These were some of the self-addressed questions with which Professor Sir Arthur Thomson dealt in his presidential address to the South Eastern Union Scientific Society at Winchester when he spoke on natural history problems of the countryside. When the cat arched its back and showed its canines on being surprised by a dog, the excitement, becoming physiological, affected the nervous system. The coagulability of the blood became increased, so that the body of the cat was not only spoiling for a fight, but was even being prepared for wounds. "Why," he asked, "does a hen advertise her egg-laying so loudly, thereby attracting in wild conditions the attention of hungry ears? 'Why do owls hoot? Is not their noisiness apt to defeat their own predatory ends?'"

Looking Back 25 Years.

"A friend of mine has recently been dilating on the evils of dice-throwing as it obtains in the Colony. He refers, of course, to the practice which prevails in many places for deciding who should pay for the refreshments to be consumed. He points out that the griffin suffers most from the custom, as it may frequently happen that having entered the club with a companion and begun an innocent toss to decide who should pay for two drinks, others may join in the throwing, with the result that the 'young'un' finds himself victimized to the extent of eight to ten drinks. It could certainly be better in the interests of those who do not wish to gamble and are not courageous enough to say 'no' less they appear mean in the eyes of others, if this form of gambling could be eliminated from our recreation clubs, but yet, knowing what human nature is, it is too much to hope that gambling, even in this comparatively mild manner, will be stopped. I merely mention these complaints in the hope that those who have decided opinions either way may have an opportunity of expressing them.—Hong Kong Daily Press, July 14, 1906.

Looking Back 50 Years.

As a sample of the peculiar manner in which official business is conducted in China, the memorial from the Governor-General of the Two Kwang, is worthy of perusal. It appears that a charge having been brought against Yang Yu Ko, Commander-in-Chief of the troops in the Two Kwang provinces, that he was engaged in business while at the same time holding office, he was removed from the post with loss of rank. The General thereupon addressed a 'most humble petition' to the Viceroy, metaphorically piling dust on his own head, and after acknowledging his offence, which, however, he shows to have been an unintentional and unavoidable one, he offers a little cumshaw to the Government in the shape of arms and ammunition recently purchased in Hong Kong at a cost of thirty-five thousand dollars. He adds, "Having been the recipient of Imperial bounty to a very great degree, he would on the account whatever venture to invite the bestowal of a reward for this contribution." Nevertheless, the Viceroy having and probably with good cause—praised the energy and patriotism of the petitioner, an Imperial Decree orders the original rank of General Yang Yu Ko to be restored to him.—Hong Kong Daily Press, July 13, 1931.

BRITISH INSULARITY GONE FOREVER.

HUGE DISARMAMENT MEETING AT ALBERT HALL.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Ruony, July 10.
The Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, who has been taking a short rest at Chequers, returns to London to-morrow to speak in company with the Conservative and Liberal leaders, Mr. Stanley Baldwin and Mr. Lloyd George, at a great demonstration in the afternoon at the Albert Hall organised by the British League of Nations' Union, including other Peace Societies, in favour of international action for reduction of armaments, and the success of next year's world Disarmament Conference. Field-Marshal Sir William Robertson will preside.
The hall holds 10,000 people, but the speeches will be relayed to a vast open air meeting in Hyde Park, as well as to audiences in Leeds Hall and other towns.
Arrangements also have been made for a broadcast of the proceedings in the United States and several other countries, and "talkie" pictures will be made, which will be shown in 20 countries, besides being shown throughout Britain.

THE SPEECHES.

LONDON, July 11.
The Prime Minister, Mr. R. MacDonald, and the leaders of the Conservative and Liberal Parties, Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Lloyd George, were speakers at a great meeting at the Albert Hall to-day, organised by the British League of Nations' Union supported by six other organisations in favour of international action for the reduction of armaments and with a view to raising world public opinion to secure success at the Disarmament Conference in February next.
A procession half a mile long marched from the embankment to Hyde Park before the meeting.

SIR W. ROBERTSON.

Field-Marshal Sir William Robertson, who presided, said:—Speaking as one who had passed half a century in the study and practice of war it was for the statesmen of the world to take advantage of encouraging the elements which existed to bring about a success of the Conference.

MR. RAMSAY MACDONALD.

The Prime Minister said: All parties and sections of opinion in Great Britain had come together to this unique gathering to manifest their support of one of the greatest causes that ever enlisted the support of the peoples. They should have no illusions about disarmament, however, they would require to be persistent and patient. It was essentially an international question. Alone one nation could pioneer, but alone one nation could not attain.

He referred to the danger of nations seeking their security by arms, and said that security rested not in arms but in preventing causes which hitherto had led to war from developing into war. He reminded the meeting that disarmament was not an agitation of coterie, but an aim to which, Great Britain, with other nations, was pledged again and again in its international engagements. Therefore, honour bound them to use all their power next February so that Great Britain should be clear away at the forefront of those who not merely sought peace but ensured it.

MR. S. BALDWIN.

Mr. Baldwin said: He agreed with the Prime Minister that nations were bound by treaty and honour to International Disarmament. Many people, however, did not realise what the British contribution to disarmament had been. He took, for example, the air. With the advent of aerial warfare, British insularity had gone for ever, yet after the war we virtually scrapped our air force. We reduced three thousand machines to three hundred and disbanded 9/10ths of the personnel. He hoped the result of the Conference in February would establish some sort of parity in the air forces of Western Europe.

In the event of a League Economic blockade to prevent war what would be the attitude of the United States? He asked. The United States would happily be at the Disarmament Conference, but for the reason he had stated, and many others, they wanted her co-operation in the League problem of reconciling National interests and International Disarmament.

THE "WELSH WIZARD."

Mr. Lloyd George said he was there to emphasise the unity of all parties in Great Britain on the disarmament question. They must make every effort to reach and influence the minds of men in the direction of recognising the need for the application of moral principles of individual conduct to the policy of nations.

Broadcast to 26 Countries.

The speeches at the Albert Hall meeting were broadcasted in Great Britain and twenty-six other countries.

A New York message says the relayed broadcast was heard there with normal clearness.
A "talkie" film was made which it has been arranged to show in two dozen different countries.

A "Peace Rally."

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, July 11.
An unprecedented "peace rally" was staged in London this afternoon when huge processions converged at the Albert Hall.

The gathering was addressed by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Mr. S. Baldwin and Mr. Lloyd George, whose speeches were relayed to overflow meetings, and broadcast throughout the country.

Mr. R. MacDonald demanded that nations and their mere sentiment and piety and produce concrete figures proving their armament reductions.

Mr. S. Baldwin complained that other nations had not followed Britain's lead in disarmament, and appealed to the United States to co-operate with the League of Nations in the reconciliation of national interests and disarmament.

Mr. Lloyd George declared the Angel of Peace had never been so toned since Loano.
The meeting adopted a resolution, amid acclamation, urging the Government at the forthcoming Disarmament Conference, to do their utmost to effect world-wide disarmament.

KING AND QUEEN

£2,000,000 OPENED.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Ruony, July 10.
The King and Queen visited Glasgow to-day and had a great welcome from tens of thousands, who lined the streets along which they drove from the Central Station to the Bridge Wharf. They proceeded by steamer down the Clyde to Shieldhall, where they declared open the new dock completed at a cost of £2,000,000. They passed the wards where the new giant Cunarder is under construction.

In a speech the King paid a tribute to the courage and enterprise of Glasgow development schemes and said that since his first visit the tonnage using the port had doubled. For a century, Glasgow ships had sailed every ocean and there were few corners in the world where they could not find a Glasgow engineer. It was a great record not yet beaten. He believed that those who had faith in the future of the nation would reap the full reward of their foresight.

Referring to the Prince of Wales' visit to South America His Majesty said that the southern half of the American Continent would one day be bound to Britain with even closer commercial ties.

SIR JOHN SIMON
DENOUNCED.MR. LLOYD GEORGE MAKES BITTER ATTACK.

London, July 3.—Two old friends have fallen out and the discussion of their differences enlivened the proceedings in the House of Commons this afternoon when Mr. Lloyd George, in one of the bitterest personal attacks the House has heard for many years, replied to Sir John Simon's recent accusations against Lloyd George's policy. The accusations were made when Sir John succeeded from the Liberal Party.

Mr. Lloyd George said he had no objection to a man changing his opinions, but that man was not entitled to treat the matter as if he were the only one obeying his conscience. Greater men had changed their minds without leaving "this slimy of hypocrisy" in passing from one side to another.

Amid loud laughter from the Labour members, Mr. Lloyd George likened Sir John Simon's defection to that of a lifelong teetotaler who, approaching his sixtieth birthday, suddenly took to drink and rolled from one side to another and then ended his career in an inebriated home.

INDUSTRIAL SPY
TRIAL ENDS.GERMAN COURT IMPOSES SEVERE SENTENCES.

CHEMICAL SECRETS STOLEN.

Leipzig, July 4.—Industrial espionage, regarded in Germany as tantamount to high treason, has brought severe sentences to the accused persons in the so-called Leuna spy trial, which was concluded by the Supreme Court to-day after a month's proceedings in camera.

The sentences ranged from eight years' penal servitude on two men to 21 months on a woman. The accused included two Reichswehr soldiers. The charge was selling to agents of foreign nations secrets obtained from employees of the Leuna Chemical Works.

Stolz Nitrate Plants.
Leipzig, July 4.—After a three weeks' trial behind closed doors three men and one woman were sentenced to-day by the Supreme Court to eight years' penal servitude and five others to imprisonment from nine months to two years. All defendants were found guilty of having been in the pay of the French economic intelligence service and of having abstracted from the safes of the Leuna works, the artificial nitrate plant of the Dyestuffs, certain plants and formulae possession of which the French industry, it was stated, would have handicapped German nitrate production, if the loss had not been discovered in time.

A part of the Press, which devoted much attention to the trial, complains that the accused were too leniently dealt with, and demands that the authorities take more energetic measures to stamp out France's persistent efforts to possess herself of German industrial secrets.

A PRISONER'S BOAST.

"COULD BREAK ANY SAFE IN 20 MINUTES."

Timothy Kelly, 45, a seaman, described by the police at an expert safe breaker, was sentenced at the Old Bailey to five years' penal servitude for having under his control explosive substances in such circumstances as to give rise to reasonable suspicion that they were not under his control for a lawful purpose.

It was stated that at the police station he had boasted that he could break any safe in twenty minutes.
Mr. L. A. Byrne, prosecuting, said that Kelly was stopped in London-road, Southwark, by Detective-Inspector Gooch and other officers. They told him that they had seen a Gladstone bag at Rowton House, Newington-baths, where he lodged, containing explosives, that they believed that the bag belonged to him.

He was taken to Kennington-lane Police Station, where the bag was opened. It was found to contain fifteen sticks of gelignite, twenty fuses, fourteen detonators, an automatic pistol, twenty rounds of ammunition, skeleton keys, an electric torch, and a book which had the appearance of a novel, entitled "How to Open Safes." This was stated to be an American publication.

Inspector Gooch said that Kelly had a number of convictions in this country, the last being in 1928 for housebreaking. Since then he had been to America, Australia, and South Africa.

A GLOOMY OUTLOOK IN EUROPE.

MR. HENDERSON TAKES STAND WITH FRANCE AGAINST GERMANY.DELAY OF HOOVER PLAN WILL AGGRAVATE SITUATION.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PARIS, July 10.
Doctor Luther, President of the German Reichsbank, had a lengthy conference this morning with French banking authorities.

A Change of Mind.

BERLIN, July 10.
It is learned that Dr. Luther is unexpectedly returning from Paris to consult with the Government (according to the newspapers), regarding M. Flandin's demand that French financial assistance to Germany shall be conditional upon the renunciation of battleship construction, and also of the Austro-German Customs Union.

LATER.

Making a characteristically swift decision, Dr. Luther has now decided to remain in Paris to continue his negotiations.

PARIS, July 10.
Dr. Luther left for Berlin by air this morning, to consult the Cabinet regarding France's demands in connection with German battleship construction and the Austro-German Customs Union.

Coloony, July 11.

Herr Luther when interviewed by a Reuter representative, while his aeroplane was being refuelled, pooh poohed the "Fantastic figures I am supposed to have mentioned at my negotiations in London and Paris," but he refused to state the exact amount of credit he is seeking.

Cessation of Warship Construction.

So far the Foreign Office here has neither confirmed nor denied the report that Mr. Arthur Henderson has told the German Ambassador in London that Great Britain would welcome the cessation of German warship construction, and the renunciation of the Austro-German Customs Union, demanded by France, as a condition of financial aid.

German Government circles are convinced that compliance with France's demand will very likely lead to a serious upheaval in Germany, with the downfall of the present Government there, and the substitution of a Hitler regime, together with a probable Communist counter-revolution, leading to bloodshed and chaos.

Dr. Luther's knowledge of these facts was responsible for his first decision to leave Paris, but after a telephone talk with Herr Brüning, he decided to remain to continue his negotiations on a purely financial basis, leaving the political side to Herr Brüning and Dr. Curtius, who were very busy all day long discussing the situation.

Moratorium Meeting.

LONDON, July 10.
The British Government has formally invited France, Italy, Japan, Belgium, the United States, and Germany to attend a Moratorium Conference in London on July 17.

Invitation Accepted.

ROME, July 11.
The Government have accepted the British Government's invitation to a conference of experts at London on July 17, and says they will instruct their representatives to assist in every way possible, meanwhile the Government will not demand the payment of reparations due from Germany on July 15.

Reckless Publicity.

BERLIN, July 12.
Reckless publicity is being given to all kinds of rumours bearing on the financial crisis, and the French loan conditions, thus adding to the Government's difficulties.

For instance, authoritative circles deny the reports that the French are demanding a dissolution of the Steel Helmet Organisation and that the Cabinet, and Hindenburg himself, have threatened to resign rather than to give way.

Rigid Restrictions Applied.

BERLIN, July 11.
The Reichsbank has applied more rigid credit restrictions and accepted fewer drafts.
It is expected that to-day's withdrawals of foreign currency will total Mks. 20,000,000, which is double yesterday's.

The Government this afternoon, through diplomatic channels, appealed to the United States and Governments of other interested Powers pointing out the urgency of the financial situation in Germany.

The Cabinet discussing the report of Herr Luther was still sitting at 11 p.m.

BERLIN, July 12.

It is now stated that Germany has not yet applied for an American loan, but has informed the United States Government of the seriousness of Germany's position if credits are not forthcoming.

The Cabinet was still sitting at mid-day and no decision has yet been taken.

No Authority Over Reserve Board.

[REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.]

WASHINGTON, July 12.
The acting Secretary of State, Mr. Castle, has issued a statement, via the White House, that President Hoover has not received a request from the Reich in connection with the financial difficulties, nor has he been asked to intercede with the Federal Board.

The statement, which was issued after a conference with President Hoover who is week-ending at Rapidan River Camp, adds: "It is well known that the executive has no authority over the Federal Reserve Board and does not attempt to influence it. The President has not exchanged any messages with Germany to-day."

British Empire Policy.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Ruony, July 10.
A letter has been addressed by the Treasury to the President of the Bank of International Settlements stating that the Governments of Great Britain, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, South Africa and India have accepted in principle the proposal made by President Hoover for the suspension of inter-Governmental payments, including reparations payments, falling due from July 1, 1931, to June 30, 1932.

"As you are aware certain outstanding questions as regards the method of giving effect to President Hoover's proposal remain to be settled by the Governments concerned. In the meantime the monthly instalment of the German annuity falls due on July 15, but even if the German Government were in a position to transfer this instalment, to demand it would be manifestly inconsistent with the acceptance in principle of President Hoover's proposal. The above-mentioned Governments have, therefore, decided to refrain in so far as they are concerned from claiming any payment in respect of the instalments of both conditional and unconditional annuity falling due on July 15 without prejudice to the rights of bondholders of the German external loan, 1924, and the German Government 54 per cent. international loan, 1930, and on the understanding that the terms and conditions of the suspension of this payment and of the eventual transfer of the amount suspended will be those agreed upon hereafter for giving effect to Mr. Hoover's proposal.

The above-mentioned Governments feel it necessary to add that their decision has been taken with the object of giving immediate relief to existing difficulties in Germany in accordance with Mr. Hoover's proposal by a complete suspension of transfers, whether in cash or in kind, and it must not, of course, be understood as implying any derogation from the rights of these Governments under the Hague Agreements in so far as any payments may be transferred by Germany.

Germany's Crushing Difficulties.

Ruony, July 11.
The letter addressed by the British Treasury to the Bank of International Settlements, announcing the decision of the British Government to refrain from claiming any payments due from Germany on July 15, under the Young Plan "With the object of giving immediate relief to the crushing difficulties in Germany, in accordance with President Hoover's proposals," is subject to favourable comment in the Press.

Under a heading "British Empire Lead," the Daily Telegraph says: "The difficult and anxious situation will be eased, not less morally than materially, by the action which the British and the Dominion Governments have taken in regard to the German reparations payments falling due on Wednesday next." This expression of relief finds echo in most other comments, where anxiety is apparent lest the first curative effect of the Hoover gesture on depression has been lost in subsequent difficulties of detail. The hope is expressed that the British lead will be immediately followed by other creditor Governments.

The view is that every day's delay in giving practical effect to the Hoover plan can only aggravate the already serious situation with consequences disastrous for Europe and the World.

LAWRENCE WINS THE "HUNDRED."

CLOSE FINISH IN 100 METRES
FOR LADIES.

W. Lawrence won the open 100 metres free style event on Saturday when the South China Athletic Association held their first night fete. Two other V.R.C. competitors, L. Rosa Pereira and S. V. Gittins, finished second and third respectively.

In the other open event, the 100 metres free style for ladies, a Chinese competitor, Miss Yeung Sau-king, finished ahead of Mrs. J. McMahon, getting there about a fifth of a second earlier. Miss P. Hunt was third.

A feature of the sport was a diving exhibition by Ed. da Rosa, who won many rounds of applause by his clever exhibition.

A water polo match between the University Old Boys and the Services was productive of some very good play and finished 3-1 in favour of the University. The Services' side was augmented by the inclusion of L. Rosa Pereira who shot the only goal registered by the losers.

Other items on the programme, confined to Club members, were both interesting and amusing, the programme opening with a fat man's race, and including such events as grassy pole, family race, hurdle race and blindfold race.

CHINESE HEADING FOR CHAMPIONSHIP HONOURS IN TENNIS.

RECREIO BEATEN IN IMPORTANT MATCH
AT KING'S PARK.

DEUTSCHER CLUB SCORE THEIR FIRST WIN:
INDIANS BADLY BEATEN.

Despite the fact that some rain fell on Saturday morning, the weather cleared sufficiently later on to enable the league tennis programme to be carried out.

Much interest was centred upon the meeting of Recreio and C.R.C. teams in the "B" Division at King's Park and by winning comfortably, the Chinese have practically made certain of championship honours in this division, in which they now remain the only unbeaten side.

In the "C" Division Deutscher Club recorded their first win of the season over Craigengower Cricket Club, while at Sookunpoo, Indian Recreation Club was hopelessly beaten by C.R.C., the latter taking the points without conceding a set.

"B" DIVISION.

Recreio v. C.R.C.

Making the trip to King's Park, C.R.C. further enhanced their chances for championship honours in the "B" division by beating Recreio by 6 sets

BASEBALL.

HONG KONG DEFEATED BY S. CHINA.

CHANG HITS A HOMER: SOME POOR PLAY.

South China walked away with the baseball game on Saturday when they beat Hong Kong Baseball Club with five men crossing the plate against Hong Kong's none.

Tough to say, but all the promises that the clubs have been making turn out to be nothing but promises. In the whole game Hong Kong were only able to get two lucky hits and they turned out to be not worth a run. South China came across with two runs in the first inning and had the game in the bag from the start.

The Hong Kong lads looked a bit stale and were not up to scratch but they might show signs of improvement later on in the season.

Pitches Up in the Air.

Milton Goo, pitching for South China, was as wild as usual and if it had not been for five fan-outs that he was able, by some chance, to get, he would have been a perfect washout. Most of the time he was doing nothing but walking his men and if it had not been for some good support from the rest of the team, his average would have been way down.

Gilson took the mound for Hong Kong but was yanked in favour of Campbell after he had two men down in the third. Campbell held his own pretty well until the sixth when he hit the batter and then gave two walks. Even with the bases full he might have pulled through O.K. if it had not been for a home head stunt Thatch pulled when he held the pill, letting a runner get through.

Matty Chang made the prettiest hit of the day when he hit a beauty through centre for a homer. As usual there was none around to snag the ball and he was able to make it good.

The fielders of both sides showed remarkably poor head-work and as fielders they made good wash-out men.

Plenty of errors were the result of all of the runs that South China gathered and if the pitcher for Hong Kong had had any support the time might have been different.

Line-Up.

South China	Hong Kong
M. Goo p.	Bowker

CHINESE BEAT JAPANESE SEVENTH INNING RALLY.

Local fans who attended the baseball game yesterday afternoon at Caroline Hill stadium, when the Chinese Athletics met and trounced the Japanese, were treated to some of the most sensational baseball seen on the local lot for some time.

The opening four innings found the Japanese sadly out of luck while the Chinese annexed 1 in the first, 2 in the second and 1 in the third, and at least two of these four runs can be attributed to sloppy play on the part of S. Hackiuma, short-stop of the Japanese aggregation, who muffed a pair of pop flies too short and permitted runners who should not have seen the first bag to cross the plate later in the inning. In the second inning he was replaced at short by Murata, third baseman, whose place he filled during the balance of the game.

Seventh Inning Rally.

Opening the seventh, the Chinese were three up and three down but here the Japs came to bat with blood in their eyes and started the ball rolling when Marizono hit to first. Y. Hackiuma followed to first thru being hit by a pitched ball, putting two men on bases and Murata followed with a two-bagger scoring both men. Not to be outdone, Saido tipped out a single to put Murata on third. Honda was caught out on a pop fly, S. Hackiuma drove out a hot two-sacker to chalk up two more by Saido and Murata. The last man up struck out. Score at end of seventh, four all and another canto to follow.

Disastrous Eighth.

Not to be outdone by the Japanese slugfest of the seventh, the Chinese came back strong in the eighth when T. C. Chan, first sacker, popped out a single and perched on the bag waiting for assistance. Assistance was forthcoming in the person of S. K. Fung with a two-bagger. S. C. Lee passed to first, K. W. Pau with a single scored Chan, and advanced Fung and Lee to third and second respectively. P. M. Chan arrived with a single sacker, scoring Fung while P. Chang was out on a long fly. Chan Lit tried a sacrifice hit scoring Lee and landing himself on the first corner and Y. Y. Kwok annexed a two-bagger to score Pau and P. M. Chan. Chan Lit retired at third trying stretch an extra sack from Kwok's two-bagger when S. Hackiuma woke up long enough to stop the ball and tag him. K. K. Leung duplicated Kwok's two sacker, scoring Kwok and T. C. Chan, with another single scored Leung S. K. Fung pop flied out to finish the slaughter.

In the second half the Japs were unable to make any impression on the lead which the Chinese had piled up, only one man managing to see the first corner and that thru being hit by a pitched ball.

Final count was Japanese 4, Chinese 11.

Erratic Pitching.

Batteries for the Japs were Miki and Y. Hackiuma and for the Chinese Lee and Pau. Of the two combinations there was little doubt during the opening stages of the game that Lee and Pau had quite an edge on their opponents, Miki and Hackiuma being unable to work together to any great degree until the fourth. Wildness on the part of Miki in the early stanzas allowed the hits which S. Hackiuma, at short, allowed to be converted into runs. Fielding was unusually good despite the condition of the ground after the rain of the morning and early afternoon and few were the opportunities offered an outfielder which were not accepted.

SOVIET TO PURCHASE EGYPTIAN COTTON.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

CAIRO, July 12.

The Director of the Soviet Cotton Bureau is arriving in Egypt on July 13 to negotiate the purchase of large quantities of Government cotton.

Negotiations are also afoot to introduce Egyptian cotton transactions at Havre, Bremen and other European exchanges as Liverpool is at present the only exchange dealing in Egyptian cotton.

HONG KONG TRADE.

PIECE-GOODS BUSINESS LIMITED.

The following reports are continued in the fortnightly bulletin issued by the Hong Kong Chamber of Commerce:—

Cotton Piece Goods.

A limited business has been done in shadow stripe poplins and colored stripe poplins on a sterling basis. The dealers appear to be showing some interest in Manchester prices but general buying has not yet commenced.

A small business has been reported in palm beach styles. Clearances of white shirtings and drills from stock are fair.

The latest cotton prices to hand are those of the 8th inst. as follows:—

Middling American Spot: 5.21d.
Egyptian Sakel E.G.F. Spot: 8.10d.

Woolens.

With the exception of a small business for the tailoring trade there is little or nothing doing. One or two sales of wool yarns are reported but here also the business is extremely small.

"Mr. PEPYS IN HONG KONG."

THE FEATURES OF THE HONG KONG DAILY PRESS WHICH WE HAVE MENTIONED ABOVE, OBVIOUSLY ATTRACT CERTAIN KINDS OF PEOPLE—THE MORE INTELLIGENT, THE BETTER EDUCATED, AND THE MONIED CLASSES OF ALL NATIONALITIES IN THE COLONY; IN SHORT, IT IS READ BY PEOPLE WHO SPEND FREELY, AND WHO ARE IN A POSITION TO BUY HIGH-CLASS GOODS.

THE

HONG KONG DAILY PRESS.

CHINA AND THE GAMES CRAZE.

KEENNESS AND SKILL.

China is rapidly forging ahead in the realm of sport. On every side we have evidence that the younger people of the country want two things—Western education and sport, and is fairly safe to say that of the two the latter has the greater appeal. Every school in China, whether run by Chinese or foreigners, although not making games compulsory, advocates the playing of games as a means of keeping fit and helping present day students and the youth of China to be the future leaders of the country. Games, have a greater appeal to youth than study but it is fully recognised that physical fitness, and the playing of games are a great help towards mental fitness. So great has the enthusiasm become that many young Chinese are taking up sport as a profession. We heard lately of two young Shanghai Chinese who have signed contracts and are now on their way to America, where they have been engaged as professional baseball players.

The Business Side.

Others are going into the manufacturing side of the business, and, in Shanghai alone, we hear that quite a dozen sports equipment firms have opened up during the last year or two.

These firms confine themselves solely to the manufacturing, exporting, and retailing of sporting articles, and their range covers everything from polo to ping-pong. Hong Kong and Canton are not behind in this respect for, although we have not yet a factory turning out sporting gear we have a number of Chinese firms engaged only in the selling of such wares. Newspapers have also lately appeared in many of the larger Chinese towns, the contents of which are given over definitely to news articles on every conceivable subject connected with games.

Football, cricket, tennis, have all in turn received the attention of the Chinese people, and, at all these games they have done well. Some time ago there was also a craze for boxing and Chinese turned out one or two useful exponents of this art.

Golf in China.

Golf in China is the latest European game that has taken a strong hold of the younger people of the country and we hear that it is now being played, and played well, in most of the larger Chinese cities. It would seem that government officials were the prime movers in introducing golf, and, prior to the change in government at Canton, many of the heads of the different departments, including Admiral Chan Chak, were giving the game serious attention. That Japan took up golf some years ago, and has turned out some very able players, may be an incentive to the Chinese, and, given the opportunities, together with the knowledge that they have become very proficient at other games, there is the possibility that China may produce players fit to compete with the best English and American players of to-day. It is something worth striving for, an equality with other nations in physical fitness, and ability to compete with other countries in the world of sport. Although much has been done to place China on an equal footing with the rest of the world only a physically fit nation can attain this. China therefore is apparently well on the way.

SHIPPING MOVEMENTS.

The R.M.S. Empress of Russia arrived at Yokohama on Friday at 5 p.m., left that port on Saturday at 3 p.m., and is due at Vancouver on Monday (July 20). She will leave Vancouver for Hong Kong via ports, on August 1.

The R.M.S. Empress of Japan arrived at Manila yesterday at 8 a.m., leaves that port to-day (Monday), at 4 p.m., and is due at Hong Kong on Wednesday at 8 a.m. She will leave here for Victoria and Vancouver, B.C., and Shanghai, Rikuren, Kobe, Shimonoseki, Yokohama and Honolulu, at 6 a.m. on July 18.
